American, William Christie is one of the great ambassadors of French culture and the French way of "feeling art", as he likes to say. His career as a harpsichordist, conductor, musicologist and teacher remains closely linked to France. It is at the origin of a remarkable musical adventure: his rediscovery of baroque music. This film seeks to give voice to one man's unique point of view and to lift the veil on the path of this enormous talent, who is as lucid and charming as he is inaccessible.
